PRAY FOR JOSHUA AND GRACE TO BECOME LEGALLY PART OF THE BANMAN FAMILY

All the correct paperwork, checks, and affidavits have now been filed with the court for the adoption of Joshua and Grace. We are now waiting for the court to assign us a judge and a date for our hearing. Please stand with us by praying daily for the court to agree that the kids need to be allowed to become part of the Banman family.

J O S H U A & G R A C E

These two amazing children likely represent the most transformational impact we have made while in Africa.

H I M

Joshua is a gentle young lad who likes to be helpful. Like many boys he loves working in the garden and fixing things. He likes to play video games and he is now becoming a good reader.

H E R

Grace has more character than most. She's creative and loves children. She has a huge smile and a great sense of humour. Grace is a bright girl who learns quickly but focuses less than her reading teacher might desire.

TRANSFORMATION

We see God preparing Ugandan leaders to transform their country!

Andrew & Terry will host transformational leaders at their home during October and November

Over the past year, Andrew and Terry have hosted and facilitated international leaders bringing resources to locals who are working to transform their country from within.

In October and November, the Banman's will host 11 international team members who will be training local leaders.

Among others, Bruce Friesen (Canada), Landa Cope (South Africa), Vishal Mangalwadi (India) and Tom Rudmik (Canada) will engage local leaders and discuss good governance as well as transformational education.

Please pray for the impact of these speakers to be significant and for them to reach locals of influence to transform Ugandan society.

PRAY FOR UGANDA

Although surrounded by civil and political unrest, Uganda has remained relatively stable for decades. Today we see discontentment in a young population which could be leading to unrest.

Uganda has been relatively stable for decades now. With the president Museveni in power for more than 30 years there has been peace and people have been able to raise their families without the threat of violence that is witnessed in many neighbouring countries.

Uganda's mean age is less than 16. Most of this very young population have never known war and feel they do not have a voice in today's political system. As a result, we are seeing more clashes between existing leaders and this young unsatisfied population.

As a 72 year old President, Museveni's complete influence and control over Uganda begins to develop cracks. It is reliably reported that he works hard and cares deeply about Uganda but that key advisers may be exerting pressures that he now finds hard to resist. Governance may be focusing more on control today than on providing peace and prosperity for the population.

With no visible succession plan, it now seems a real possibility that civil unrest could accompany political change when it eventually arrives. Join us and pray for the rise of transformational leaders in Uganda today!
